

Q2. WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN EX ANTE INVESTMENT AND EX POST INVESTMENT?

ANS:

S. No.	Ex-ante Investment	Ex-post Investment
1.	It refers to the planned or intended investment during a particular period of time.	It refers to the actual level of investment during a particular period of time.
2.	It is imaginary (intended), in which a firm assumes the level of investment on its own.	It is factual or original that signifies the existing investment of a particular time.
3.	It is planned on the basis of future expectations.	It is the actual result of variables.
